

46-519 Advanced Developmental Theory and Research Methods

Learning Outcomes

Last Updated: October 6, 2017

(Sa171006-5.5.2)

Learning Outcomes	Characteristics of a University of Windsor Graduate
This is a sentence completion exercise. At the end of the course, the successful student will know and be able to:	A U Windsor graduate will have the ability to demonstrate:
A. Identify and discuss common developmental theories. Identify and discuss a variety of research methods used in developmental science.	A. the acquisition, application and integration of knowledge
B. Apply developmental theories and developmental research methodologies to their own scientific research.	B. research skills, including the ability to define problems and access, retrieve and evaluate information (information literacy)
C. Critically analyze developmental theory. Critically analyze application of various developmental research methods in scholarly research.	C. critical thinking and problem-solving skills
D. Apply principles and procedures of grant/scholarship writing. Describe and apply principles and procedures of writing and publishing in scholarly journal articles using APA formatting.	D. literacy and numeracy skills
E. Describe ethical principles associated with scholarly communication in Psychology.	E. responsible behaviour to self, others and society
F. Communicate research proposals effectively.	F. interpersonal and communications skills
G.	G. teamwork, and personal and group leadership skills
H.	H. creativity and aesthetic appreciation
I.	I. the ability and desire for continuous learning