

46-797 M.A. Thesis ResearchLearning Outcomes

Last Updated: October 6, 2017

(Sa171006-5.5.2)

Learning Outcomes	Characteristics of a University of Windsor Graduate
This is a sentence completion exercise. At the end of the course, the successful student will know and be able to:	A U of Windsor graduate must have the ability to demonstrate:
A. Effectively access scholarly literature to summarize areas of inquiry in preparation for the development of novel research in the field of Psychology.	A. the acquisition, application and integration of knowledge
B. Conceptualize, design, execute, analyze, and interpret the findings of novel research.	B. research skills, including the ability to define problems and access, retrieve and evaluate information (information literacy)
C. Critically evaluate scholarly literature	C. critical thinking and problem-solving skills
D. Read complex materials in order to summarize, analyze and effectively communicate the meaning of these materials. Produce novel research that is original in scope and of a sufficient standard to warrant publication. Effectively analyze data.	D. literacy and numeracy skills
E. Demonstrate ethical behavior in all aspects of the research enterprise. Conduct research in manners consistent with the current Tri-Council policy statement and Canadian Psychological Association code of ethics.	E. responsible behaviour to self, others and society
F. Effectively communicate research in written and oral format. Engage in effective dialogue about novel research. Seek and incorporate supervisory feedback.	F. interpersonal and communications skills
G.	G. teamwork, and personal and group leadership skills
H. Demonstrate original and novel approaches to the development of research in the field of Psychology.	H. creativity and aesthetic appreciation
I. Develop novel research with increasing independence.	I. the ability and desire for continuous learning