

ECON-2510. Macroeconomics for the Real World

Learning Outcomes

Last Updated: February 10, 2017

(PDC170119-5.5)

Course Learning Outcomes	Characteristics of a University of Windsor Graduate
At the end of this course, the successful student will know and be able to:	A U of Windsor graduate will have the ability to demonstrate:
A. Explain basic concepts in macro-economics, such as inflation, globalization, monetary policy, international trade and equilibrium.	A. the acquisition, application and integration of knowledge
B. Find and interpret relevant political and economic material, and demonstrate the ability to interpret and evaluate real economic data.	B. research skills, including the ability to define problems and access, retrieve and evaluate information (information literacy)
C. Apply basic concepts of demand, supply, interest rates and government policies to the actions of investors, businesses and individuals.	C. critical thinking and problem-solving skills
D. Apply simple calculations to a wide variety of real world situations individuals face in their personal and future professional lives. Use basic mathematics and diagrams in order to determine national incomes.	D. literacy and numeracy skills
E. Use macro-economic theory to explain how economic, social and global problems can affect different countries in different ways.	E. responsible behaviour to self, others and society
F.	F. interpersonal and communications skills
G.	G. teamwork, and personal and group leadership skills
H.	H. creativity and aesthetic appreciation
I.	I. the ability and desire for continuous learning